

Home residential event notification and approval form

When planning a residential or overnight event you must refer to Girlguiding's residential event guidance.

Please read all the below information before completing this form.

Your commissioner must be notified of and approve all events that involve an overnight stay using this form. The leader in charge is responsible for making sure that Girlguiding policies and procedures are followed, that this form is completed accurately, that updated information is sent to the authorising commissioner where necessary, and that the event does not go ahead until authorisation is received.

Remember as this form includes personal data you must make sure you follow the managing information procedures when completing, sharing or sending the form.

For home residentials, that being residentials in the UK or in a British Girlguiding Overseas (BGO) home county, part one must be submitted and approved before any booking is made, unless the unit could afford to write off any small deposit.

When to submit this form

The below table lays out the minimum timescales you should follow when submitting this form:

Type of trip	Part one	Updated risk assessment and itinerary	Part two	Updates after part two approval
Organising a large-scale event*	12–18 months before the event	4 months before the event	4 weeks before the event	If there are any changes after part two is signed off by your commissioner, you must edit the form and resubmit to your commissioner and adviser (if relevant) for approval.

*100+ participants including adults and the event team

In exceptional circumstances you may be allowed to submit this form later than the minimum period, subject to the discretion of your commissioner.

A participant in the event must not act as authorising commissioner for that event.

A county commissioner attending their unit event as a unit leader can have the form authorised by their district commissioner. If they're attending a county event as a county commissioner, then the chief commissioner, or delegated deputy, for the country/region needs to sign. If the chief commissioner is attending a region or international event, the chief guide or deputy chief guide must sign it off, or if they're unavailable, then another chief commissioner.

Forms must never be signed by family members; if the authorising commissioner is related to the leader in charge the form should be passed to the commissioner above.

All UK venues must be approved by Girlguiding. If you're unsure whether your venue has been approved, contact your county residential adviser to confirm/arrange a visit to approve it. At the part one stage this can be a 'no' or 'don't know' but this must be approved by part two. You can find further information about approving venues on the going on residentials webpage.

If you're staying outside of your local area, it's good practice to make contact with the residential/outdoor activities adviser from the area in which you're staying. They are sometimes referred to as the host adviser. This is especially true if you're staying at an independent site (such as a church hall or farmer's field) as they'll be able to assess whether it's approved for Girlguiding residentials. Or, if you're doing activities specific for that location (eg walking up a local mountain), as they'll be able to let you know if there's anything specific you need to include in your risk assessment.
