Getting Started on the Leadership qualification

Welcome to your role as a Leader in Training!

Thank you for volunteering to train as a Girlguiding leader. The aim of the Girlguiding Leadership qualification (LQ) is to help you as a new leader take an active part in the effective running of a unit. Qualifying as a Leader helps everyone in the unit, including you, to enjoy and get the most from guiding.

Almost all the requirements of the LQ can be covered during the running of an active guiding unit. Your past experience (from both within and outside Girlguiding), skills and knowledge will also be taken into account.

This document provides introductory information for you about the LQ - how to get started, the support and opportunities available to you and a full LQ checklist on pages 3 to 5. You can find out more about the qualification at www.girlguiding.org.uk (search for 'leadership qualification').

Frequently asked questions

How do I get started?

You will be assigned a mentor who will support you through the LQ. She will be giving you the Leadership qualification workbook at your first or second meeting. In the meantime, ask your unit leader to help you find areas in the programme where you can contribute and gain experience to develop your guiding skills. Enjoy getting to know your unit and finding out more about guiding. The Girlguiding website, www.girlguiding.org.uk, is a helpful resource.

If you are eager to get started on the LQ, you can begin to gather evidence while you're waiting to be matched with a mentor. It can be worth keeping brief evidence of your involvement with weekly meetings, as well as any trainings or local guiding meetings you attend. To help with this, you might like to look at the LQ checklist on pages 3 to 5, make some short notes on your previous skills and experience and collate any relevant evidence. You don't need to gather masses of pieces of paper as evidence; the vast majority of the LQ syllabus takes the form of discussions with either your mentor or unit leader.

Evidence for the LQ can consist of:

- a copy of your unit's termly programme with details of the activities that you planned and/or ran
- planning notes - these don't need to be typed
- training certificates (1st Response, A Safe Space, section training)
- letters to parents, newsletters, forms
- notes of a district/division meeting that you attended
- samples of an activity (eg instructions, templates).

Who will support me?

Teamwork is important in guiding and provides support, fun and friendship. As a volunteer, you are part of your Girlguiding unit and local teams. As you progress in your qualification you will receive support from the Leaders in your unit, your Mentor and your local Commissioner. Don't be afraid to ask questions and ask for help, for example with planning activities, about areas of the LQ or working with the girls in your unit. Make friends with anyone else in your area who is doing their LQ - you can swap experiences and advice.

How do I work with my mentor?

Once you have been assigned your mentor, stay in touch by email or phone to keep her updated of your progress. Do your best to keep to agreed timescales and inform your mentor if this is not possible. If life is busy and you are struggling, just let your mentor know what's happening.

Can the process be flexible?

Guiding is designed to be flexible and fun, and to fit in with your life. Discuss your needs and other commitments with your Unit Team and Mentor where necessary. If you need support, have concerns or questions, or find that other areas of your life are taking priority, please inform your Mentor to ensure she is aware of the situation and can help you to be flexible with your LQ.

If you move to another area, for example to study, ensure you know your Girlguiding membership number. It will be on the membership card that you are sent through the post when your recruitment checks have been completed, or you can ask your Unit Leader or Commissioner for it. Share it with your next unit after your move so they can update your volunteering record on Go!.

If you are moving after starting your LQ, or are based in different counties for different times of the year, make sure you keep your LQ workbook with you, so you can show which clauses have already been signed off, and pick up where you left off. Let your new unit leader and local commissioner know that you are working on the LQ so they can ensure you are supported through the qualification and given appropriate information about training or other opportunities in your new area.

How long does it take?

The qualification can be completed in about six months (two terms), but more or less time can be taken depending on your circumstances.

When you have completed the LQ, you will be presented with a certificate and badge to celebrate and mark becoming a qualified Girlguiding Leader. If you are under 18 when you complete the LQ you will need to wait until your 18th birthday before you can be registered as a qualified adult Leader. You will still however be presented with your LQ certificate and badge upon completing the qualification.

What training is available?

To achieve your Leadership qualification, you'll need to complete the following:

- A programme training, so you can find out all about the youth programme. This can be completed as a face-to-face session, webinar or e-learning.
- 1st Response, which will ensure you have the required first aid skills to deal with an incident. If you already have a current first aid certificate, check with your mentor if it is adequate for Girlguiding purposes.
- A Safe Space training on how to create a safe space for girls and how to deal with safeguarding concerns.

What further support is available?

There is lots of other guiding support and training available, from informal sessions with leaders in your area to formal Girlguiding training. You can find out more about further opportunities to build on your skills from www.girlguiding.org.uk (click on 'learning and development').

Questions or concerns

If you have any issues regarding the completion of the LQ, please discuss them with your mentor in the first instance. If you have concerns about your mentor, discuss these with your unit leader, local commissioner or Leadership qualification coordinator.

We hope you have a fantastic and rewarding time working with the girls in your unit - your time and help make a tremendous difference!

Leadership Qualification checklist

Module 1 Your role in the programme

Part 1 - Use the Five Essentials in the unit's programme over a period of three months.

- a) Read the Five Essentials page on the Girlguiding website. See also the relevant Guidance Notes for leaders for your section.
- b) Discuss with your mentor how you can ensure the Five Essentials are put into action in your unit.
- c) Review the programme to check that the Five Essentials are being put into practice. Find out more about how the Five Essentials can be built into your unit programme by undertaking 'Unit programme planning' e-learning or webinar, available on the Girlguiding website.

Part 2 - Work with the unit and the unit team to plan and carry out the programme.

- a) Agree the programme content with the members of the unit. This could involve taking part in a Rainbow Chat, Brownie pow wow, Patrol Leaders' Council or any other suitable method of gathering members' input to get ideas and suggestions.
- b) Take part in unit team planning meetings. Using a record of the unit's programme, show your contribution to planning it and carrying it out, and discuss this with your mentor.
- c) Show how all members of the unit team, especially the young leaders and unit helpers, are involved in planning and carrying out the programme.
- d) Involve members of the unit in the delivery of the programme as appropriate and demonstrate where in the programme this has happened.
- e) Use a style of leadership appropriate to the age group and your role in the unit. This should be observed by the mentor in a unit setting.
- f) Attend a training session on the Girlguiding programme. This could be a one-to-one, small group or large group training, or you could complete an online module or webinar on the programme, appropriate to your section.

Part 3 - Provide opportunities for the unit to carry out a range of activities, reflecting balance and variety in the programme.

- a) Plan and carry out an activity that helps unit members gain an understanding of the Promise.
- b) Plan and carry out two activities in the unit meeting place.
- c) Carry out an activity or visit away from the meeting place. Ask the girls if they thought it was adventurous.

- d) Help members of the unit participate in an activity with members of another section. Afterwards, get together and talk about the activity with the members of your unit. Discuss your contribution to it with the leadership team involved, and consider how you can encourage girls to move on to the next section when the time comes.
- e) Read Evaluation activities on the Girlguiding website and, with your mentor, discuss how you evaluated activities with the unit members and other leaders who were involved

Part 4 - Work with members of the unit to support their progress.

- a) Discuss and give simple examples of how girls have gained in confidence, self-esteem and social skills and met challenges over a period of time.
- b) Help two members of the unit look at their progress through the programme and review with them two activities in which they have taken part.
- c) Help a member of the unit or a small group of girls find out about the section to which she/they can progress, using the relevant transition resources for your section.

Module 2 Your role in Girlguiding

Part 1 - Discuss your understanding of the Promise with an adult member of your choice and make or renew your Guide Promise.

- a) Discuss your understanding of the Promise with an adult member of your choice.
- b) When you are ready, make or renew your Promise.

Part 2 - Attend and contribute to meetings at a local level.

- a) Attend meetings.
- b) Feed back to the girls in your unit after the meeting and gather their views and opinions to take forward to the next meeting, to ensure their voices are heard on local plans, ideas and events.
- c) Keep a note of the meetings and discuss how information from them will be shared with members of your unit and how it will affect them. Give examples, if you can, of how this works in your unit.

Part 3 - Get involved in local guiding.

- a) Help the unit participate in an activity or event involving at least one other unit. Afterwards, discuss the activity with your mentor. It may be an activity you have suggested and it will give you an opportunity to work with other leaders and share good practice.

Module 3 Your role in safety and unit administration

Part 1 - Ensure that effective communication takes place with parents and with the local community.

- a) Know how to use GO to manage registration enquiries and how to add information about existing members. If you do not have access to the internet, know what arrangements are in place to ensure that girls in your unit are accurately recorded on GO.
- b) Know how to run reports on GO to meet the needs of the unit, for example emergency contact, girl age and medical/dietary information. If you do not have access to the internet, know what arrangements are in place to run reports needed to help you run the unit.
- c) Keep parents regularly informed about the unit's plans. Obtain any necessary parental consent.
- d) Discuss how you would help a parent with a query and what further action you would take, or make a note of a query you have dealt with.
- e) Explore ways of letting the local community know about guiding activities in your area and try at least one.

Part 2 - Ensure that the unit's programme is carried out in a safe environment.

- a) Read the safeguarding and risk pages on the Girlguiding website and discuss them with your mentor
- b) Carry out a safety check of the unit meeting place, inside and out. Discuss what action you would take if you found an unsafe situation. Explain or show how you would carry out a fire drill in your meeting place.
- c) Show that you can run activities safely in the unit meeting place.
- d) Hold a 1st Response certificate or a first aid certificate that covers the minimum requirements in the Girlguiding 1st Response syllabus (see page 41 of the Leadership Qualification workbook).
- e) Know who to report to locally in the event of an accident or serious incident involving members of the unit.
- f) Complete levels 1 and 2 of Girlguiding's A Safe Space training.

Part 3 - Be aware of your responsibility for unit funds.

- a) Read the 'Financial management' section of the Girlguiding website. Discuss with your mentor the need to budget for the day-to-day running of the unit and the requirement to prepare unit accounts.

Module 4 Your role in managing the unit

Part 1 - Maintain effective record-keeping systems.

- a) Discuss with your mentor how you ensure that accurate and up-to-date records are maintained of unit members and the unit team, in particular the use of role management on GO.
- b) Ensure that accurate records of attendance are kept for all members, including members of the unit team.
- c) Maintain your unit's programme record, and show your mentor how you would log any completed skills builders, unit meeting activities and interest badges correctly on GO.
- d) Either budget for an event or maintain the unit accounts for one term, making sure that proper financial records are kept.

Part 2 - Ensure that effective communication takes place locally.

- a) Read 'What makes guiding special' and 'the structure of Girlguiding' on the Girlguiding website.
- b) Use a local guiding contact list to show how the unit fits into guiding's communication network. Complete the helpful information sheet at the beginning of the LQ workbook.
- c) Show how information is communicated to the members of the unit, the unit team and your commissioner.
- d) Take part in an activity to help raise awareness of guiding and support recruitment - for example a 'bring a friend' evening, a community event or a parents' evening.
- e) Read the 'Policies' section of the Girlguiding website and understand your responsibility to uphold the policies of Girlguiding.
