

 Consent Scenarios Scenario 1 You have consent to use a two-minute video clip of an interview with two members. The arm of a third girl is within the camera shot. Is it still OK to use this video?	 Consent Scenarios Scenario 2 You have consent from a group of volunteers being interviewed on video. In a silent moment, you can hear the voice of another volunteer you do not have consent from in the background. Is this a problem? Can you use this video?
 Consent Scenarios Scenario 3 You have some gorgeous head shots of a couple of members outside at a camp, which you have collected consent for. There's another girl in the background, about 20 yards away and out of focus. Is it OK to use this image?	 Consent Scenarios Scenario 4 You have a wonderful shot of a group of girls at the Big Gig. You've collected consent forms for each of them via their parents/carers. You can see the back of the head of a girl behind the girls in the foreground. You don't have consent for her and do not know who she is. Can you use this image without obtaining consent from her parents/carers?

 Consent Scenarios <h3>Scenario 5</h3> You have a nice image of some artwork your girls made together. There are two girls in shot, but the image of them is blurry and out of focus. You do not have their consent. Can you use this image? Or do you need their consent?	 Consent Scenarios <h3>Scenario 6</h3> You have a video of a few members being interviewed, which you collected consent for last year. They gave consent for the video to be used for a specific event. You'd now like to use it to create a promotional video. Can you use it for this? Or do you need to collect their consent again?
 Consent Scenarios <h3>Scenario 7</h3> You have a great group photo of some of your girls on a summer camp. You collected permission from all of them at the time to use the image on a recruitment leaflet. Since then, you've received a request from one of the girl's parents/carers to no longer use any images of her. Can you continue to use this image?	 Consent Scenarios <h3>Scenario 8</h3> You need to email all your members about an upcoming trip. Can you do this? Or do you need to ask for permission from the girls' parents/carers first?

 Consent Scenarios Scenario 9 You're planning activities for the year ahead (for example, day trips and a residential) and wish to gather permission from your girls' parents/carers for them to take part in them all. Can one consent form cover all the activities you've planned for the year ahead?	 Consent Scenarios Scenario 10 You're arranging a fundraising event for a trip with your unit. You'd like to let parents/carers know about it and how they can get involved. How can you do this? And what should you be aware of?
 Consent Scenarios Scenario 11 You've used photos of your Brownies on a promotional poster for which you gathered consent. A year later, the mother of one of the Brownies decides that she doesn't want images of her daughter used any more and withdraws consent. What do you need to do, and when?

Printing and preparation notes:

Print single-sided, 1 per small group, and cut up.