Overview of the REN process

What is the REN form?

REN stands for residential event notification. This is the form that leaders in charge of residential events must use when planning a residential event with young members. This includes sleepovers, camps, holidays, large-scale events and international residential.

The form must be submitted to, and authorised by, a commissioner before the event takes place. See here for when you need to submit the REN form, and here for who can authorise the form.

What do we mean by leader in charge, and what do they do?

The leader in charge is the person who completes the REN form and submits it to the authorising commissioner for approval. They're the person with overall responsibility for the residential and who holds, or is working towards, the relevant modules of the Going Away With scheme or Lead Away permit (the licence holder).

If a mentor is supporting a Guide camp permit they are classed as the leader in charge and should put their contact details in this section, list the supervisor in the participant details section and put the name of the Guide doing their camp permit in the 'brief summary of your event' section.

What do we mean by authorising commissioner, and what do they do?

The authorising commissioner is the commissioner who approves the event.

International RENs can only be authorised by the country/region chief commissioner, or the assistant/deputy chief commissioner. The REN will be automatically assigned to the most local commissioner so the chief commissioner will need to assign themselves to the event.

Home RENs can be authorised by any commissioner, but they'll be automatically assigned to the most local commissioner. If an area has joint commissioners, the REN form will be automatically assigned to the commissioner listed on GO for the area. The other commissioner can assign themselves to the event and become the authorising commissioner instead.

A participant in the event must not act as authorising commissioner for that event. The responsibility for authorising the event sits with the commissioner at the next level up. If the authorising commissioner is just visiting an event, this is ok.

A county commissioner attending their unit event as a unit leader can have the form authorised by their district commissioner. If they're participating in a county event as a county commissioner, then the chief commissioner for the country/region needs to sign it off. If the chief commissioner is attending a region or international event, the chief guide or deputy chief guide must sign it off, or if they're unavailable, then another chief commissioner.

Forms must never be signed by family members; if the authorising commissioner is related to the leader in charge the form should be passed to the commissioner above.

Can the authorising commissioner be the home contact for the event?

Yes, they can. For larger events this may not be appropriate, as the commissioner may need to manage any issues which occur.

What do we mean by adviser, and what do they do?

Advisers are specialist volunteers who provide their knowledge and expertise to the authorising commissioner so that they can approve the event.

It's good practice for an adviser to see every form, but the authorising commissioner must pass on the form and other relevant information to be checked by a relevant adviser (eg residential, outdoor activity or international adviser) if:

- A Going Away With scheme assessment is needed.
- A Guide camp permit or Lead Away permit assessment is needed.
- They're organising a large-scale event
- They're planning an international residential

The leader in charge can also ask the authorising commissioner to share the form with an adviser if they're doing a specific activity and want some extra advice or local knowledge.

Do I have to complete the REN on GO?

The form is available on paper as well as on GO. But it's easier for the authorising commissioner if you complete the REN on GO, as GO automatically checks that volunteers have the right training and recruitment checks in place.

What is the difference between the Home REN form and the International REN form?

If your residential is taking place in the UK, you should use the Home REN form.

The International REN form should be used for any event where you are staying in, or travelling through, any country outside the UK, including Ireland.

The International REN form is slightly different to the Home REN form. You need to complete the permission to plan, as well as part 1 and part 2.

You also need to provide some additional information, including when you last checked the UK government guidance about travel to the country or countries you're visiting, and what restrictions or risks there are.

What else do I need to complete as part of the REN process?

You need to complete a few other documents as part of the process, and share these with the authorising commissioner. You can do this by email, or by using a shared online folder.

You'll need to complete:

- Risk assessment.
- Itinerary or activity plan.
- Home contact agreement form.
- Insurance certificates (if required).

You'll also need to collect consent forms and health information forms for the participants, but these don't need to be shared with the authorising commissioner.

When do I need to submit my REN form for authorisation?

This depends on the type of residential you are planning:

International trip

- 9-18 months before the event: international permission to plan and part 1, if agreed with your commissioner.
- 4 months before the event: updated risk assessment and activity plan.
- 4 weeks before the event: part 2.

Large-scale events

Check our guidance on running a large-scale event. You only need to complete an International permission to plan form if the event is overseas.

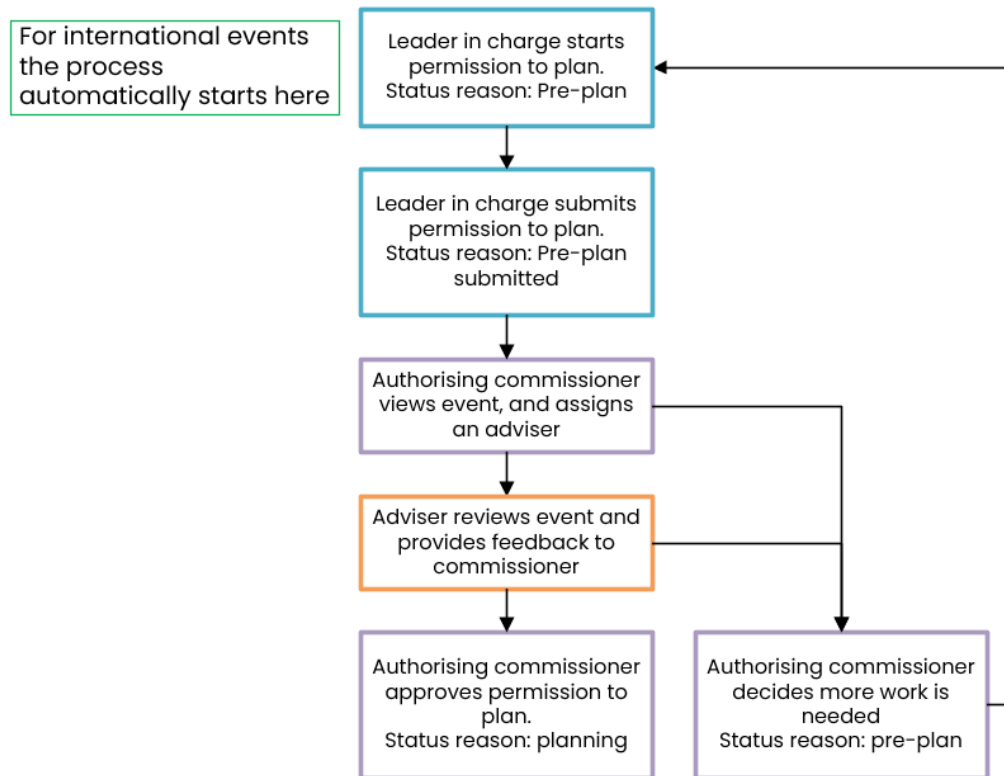

- 12-18 months before the event: part 1.
- 4 months before the event: updated risk assessment and activity plan.
- 4 weeks before the event: part 2.

All other home residentials

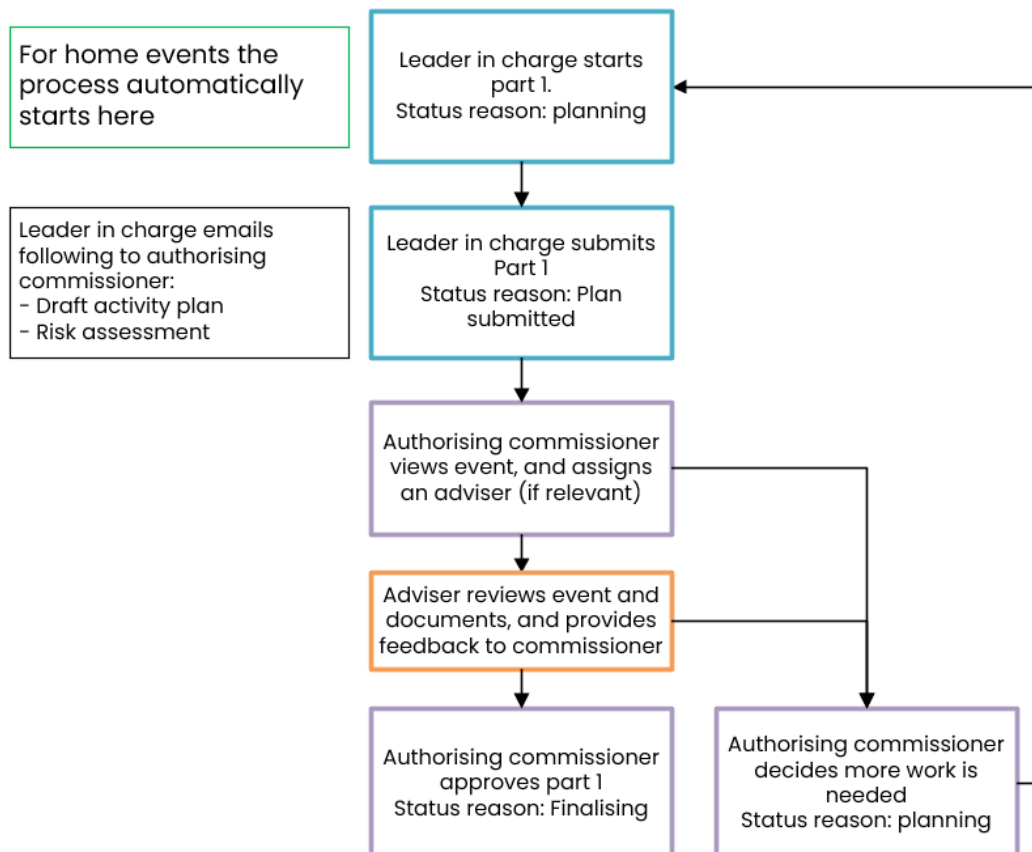

- 12 weeks before the event: part 1.
- 4 weeks before the event: part 2, along with the updated risk assessment and activity plan.

Starting your REN

- How you start a REN form depends on your role.
 - If you're a unit leader, leader in training or unit administrator select Unit leader at the top of the page.
 - If you're a district, division, county or country or region event administrator select Adviser/Coordinator at the top of the page.
 - If you're a district, division or county commissioner select Commissioners at the top of the page.
 - If you're a district, division or county level support, select Level Support at the top of the page.

- Select the level type eg My Division Roles or My Units, then select the name of the unit or level from the list.

Divisions
Name ↑	Level Number	Parent Level	Main Contact	Commissioner	Active Girls	Volunteer Roles	No of Units	Actions
London HQ Division	100005936	London Testing County	Lara Cook HQ	Palvi Test	17	7	6

- Select the Event planning tab. If you're a commissioner, you'll also see a tab called Event Authorisation. This is where you'll find REN forms submitted to you for authorisation. You can find out more about this in our REN help file for commissioners authorising residential events.

- Any REN forms you've started will show up here. Select the Add Event button.

- A pop-up window will appear for your new REN. Read the information in blue and fill in the required fields. Try to use an event name that will be helpful for you and your commissioner.

- Select the date for your event using the calendar button. You can then type over this if you need to, for example to change the times. The start time and date should be when the first person will arrive on site, for example to set up. You can add information about when the young members are arriving when you provide a summary of the event on the Event Details tab.

- Click the magnifying glass to choose the event type.

- A pop-up window will appear. Choose your event type and click Select. You won't be able to change the event type once you do this, so double check if you're not sure.

- The Level field will already be filled in with the level you selected in step 2. You can't change this.
- Once you're happy with the information, select Submit.

- You'll be taken back to the Event Planning page automatically when you submit your event. You should then see your event listed under Member Events.

If it doesn't show immediately, click on one of the headings to refresh the page or log out of GO and back in. If you log out you'll need to follow steps 1-3 to get back to the Event Planning page. You should then see your new event listed.

Your commissioner must be notified of and approve all events that involve an overnight stay using this form. The leader in charge is responsible for making sure that Girlguiding policies and procedures are followed, that this form is completed accurately, that updated information is sent to the authorising commissioner where necessary, and that the event does not go ahead until authorisation is received.

Volunteers and Home Contacts

There are two ways to add volunteers to an event.

Volunteers at the same level as the event

You can add volunteers to an event yourself, but only if the volunteer has a role at the same level that the event is being organised at. So if you're organising a unit event, you'll be able to add volunteers from your unit, but if you're organising a division event, you'll only be able to add volunteers at that level, like a division helper.

You can add volunteers from the Event Planning page. Click Save and Exit to return to this page. Then select the Actions arrow for the event and choose Add Volunteer.

All UK venues must be approved by Girlguiding. If you're unsure whether your venue has been approved, contact your county residential adviser to confirm/arrange a visit to approve it. At the part one stage this can be a 'no' or 'don't know' but this must be approved by part two. You can find further information about approving venues on the going on residential webpage (Click here)

If you're staying outside of your local area, it's good practice to make contact with the residential/outdoor activities adviser from the area in which you're staying. They are sometimes referred to as the host adviser. This is especially true if you're staying at an independent site (such as a church hall or farmer's field) as they'll be able to assess whether it's approved for Girlguiding residential. Or, if you're doing activities specific for that location (eg walking up a local mountain), as they'll be able to let you know if there's anything specific you need to include in your risk assessment.

For international events where it isn't possible to approve venues in advance, you must ensure each venue meets Girlguiding's policies, and risk assess the venue on your arrival.

3. A pop-up will appear with information about your submission. Read this and select Proceed if you're happy to go ahead.

By submitting for authorisation you are confirming that you have sent the Commissioner:

- Activity plan (draft for part 1, detailed for part 2)
- Risk assessment (draft for part 1, finalised for part 2)
- Insurance certificates (if required)
- Any other documents you think would be helpful for the Commissioner and have completed all relevant information on the form.

You don't need to submit any documents for the commissioner for international permission to plan.

Once submitted your Commissioner will approve, or send the form back for more information. The event will be locked (read only) while the Commissioner is approving, however volunteers can still register onto the event team. If you are submitting your international permission to plan your Commissioner will inform you when you need to submit your REN part 1.

You must not continue with an event unless you have carried out any additional actions to the authorising commissioner's satisfaction and you have received the signed form from them. Failure to do so is considered a serious breach of Girlguiding policy and may result in restriction or removal of membership.

4. A green banner will appear to confirm your event has been submitted.

5. The status reason should now show as Pre-plan submitted.

If this doesn't update immediately, try refreshing the page by clicking on one of the blue column headings in the table.

6. Your Permission to Plan request has now been submitted to your commissioner. GO doesn't send them a notification, so you'll need to get in touch and let them know you've submitted it for authorisation. You don't need to do anything further until they've reviewed and approved your Permission to Plan. Once this is done the status reason of the event will update to Planning and you can move onto your part 1.

3. A pop-up will appear with information about what happens next. Read this and select Proceed if you're happy to go ahead.

By submitting for authorisation you are confirming that you have sent the Commissioner:

- Activity plan (draft for part 1, detailed for part 2)
- Risk assessment (draft for part 1, finalised for part 2)
- Insurance certificates (if required)
- Any other documents you think would be helpful for the Commissioner and have completed all relevant information on the form.

You don't need to submit any documents for the commissioner for international permission to plan.

Once submitted your Commissioner will approve, or send the form back for more information. The event will be locked (read only) while the Commissioner is approving, however volunteers can still register onto the event team. If you are submitting your international permission to plan your Commissioner will inform you when you need to submit your REN part 1.

You must not continue with an event unless you have carried out any additional actions to the authorising commissioner's satisfaction and you have received the signed form from them. Failure to do so is considered a serious breach of Girlguiding policy and may result in restriction or removal of membership.

Edit Event

If you do need to make any changes, you'll need to ask the authorising commissioner to select More work needed so you can edit and resubmit the event for authorisation. They can find instructions on how to do this in the REN help file for commissioners authorising residential events.

REN Approved

You'll get a GO communication to let you know when your commissioner has reviewed and authorised part 2. The status reason will update to Approved which means you can go ahead with your planned residential event. You must not go ahead with any event until it has been approved by the relevant commissioner.

If you make any changes to the event, you'll need to resubmit part 2 for authorisation. Your commissioner won't know you've made changes to the event until you do this.

FAQs

What do I do if my level doesn't show on the My Levels page?

Check your profile to make sure your role at that level is showing as active. If you don't have one, or it's showing as active-pending, get in touch with your commissioner.

If you're running an event for a district, division, county, or country or region, and you don't already have a role at this level, you can be made an event administrator.

What if I need to change information after I've submitted part 2?

If there're any changes after part 2 is approved by the authorising commissioner, for example there's been a change of venue or a leader has had to withdraw and a replacement has stepped in, the form must be edited and resubmitted for approval.

If you're using the REN form on GO, you should ask the authorising commissioner to move your form back to the finalising stage. You can then make the changes and resubmit your form.

You must not hold an event unless you've received this reapproval.

Can I cancel an event after submitting it to my commissioner?

Yes. You can cancel at any time by going to the Event Planning page, selecting the Actions arrow by the event and then Cancel Event. If your commissioner has already authorised part 1 or 2 it's a good idea to let them know that you're cancelling the event and why.

By cancelling the event the information will disappear from your views and your commissioner will no longer be able to view your event. If you decide to go ahead with the event later you'll need to create a new event.

What do the different status reasons on the Event Planning page mean?

Status Reason	Meaning
Pre-plan	This only applies to International RENs. It means that a new International REN has been started, and the permission to plan is being filled in by the event organiser.
Pre-plan submitted	This applies only to International RENs. It means permission to plan has been submitted to the commissioner.
Planning	Event organiser is completing part 1.
Plan submitted	Part 1 has been submitted to the commissioner for approval. The REN can't be edited by the event organiser after it's been submitted.
Finalising	Event organiser is updating part 2.
Awaiting approval	Part 2 has been submitted to the commissioner for approval. The REN can't be edited by the event organiser after it's been submitted.
Approved	The commissioner has approved the REN. If any changes are made, part 2 must be submitted again.

What happens when a volunteer uses a link to register for an event?
 After opening the link, the volunteer will need to log in to GO. They'll see this page, which shows the event details. The volunteer must fill in their arrival and departure date and time, and select Submit.
