

Are you ready to design your new uniform? We're working with uniform designers, Hemingway Design. They're co-designing the uniform because you, as the wearers, are the experts.

Over 20,000 Girlguiding girls and volunteers have already told us all about their ideas for the new uniform. There's a lot to think about and we're excited to hear from even more of you.

We're starting off by looking at colours and logo designs. We've used a hoodie design as an example, because they're a great way to keep cosy and warm, which our members told us is important. This doesn't mean that this hoodie is our final choice!

Nothing is decided yet, so we want to know what you think at this stage. The pictures you'll see aren't the final designs, this is just our starting point.

There are 2 activities for you to take part in. Let's get started!

* 'Marl' means using different coloured yarns to make 1 single thread. Twisting the colours together can mean that there are small colour differences between garments.

1 - Choose your favourite

We've designed a few different hoodies for you to have a look at. They're going to be super cosy and designed together with you!

There's 2 ways we want you to think about the designs – 'what do I like the most' and 'which do I think could be the best for everyone?' For example, you might love a colour that gets your vote. But when you talk to the rest of your unit, the colour you decide on together might be different. It's important to listen to each other so we can get a uniform that everyone is happy with.

Step 1: Take a look at all the designs. Your leader will ask every Guide to vote for which one YOU like the most. Pick your favourite:

- Hoodie colour
- Logo design
- Logo colour

Choose someone to count up how many Guides vote for each hoodie colour, logo design and logo colour and jot down the number in the boxes on the activity sheet.

Step 2: Now, it's time to think about your unit vote (this is your whole group vote). From the options on the sheet, pick 1 option that everyone in your unit would be happy to wear. Circle it on the activity sheet. Your leader will let us know your thoughts.

Note to leader: please upload your unit's responses to our short survey.

2 - Design your uniform

It's time to let your creative skills loose.

Step 1: It's your time to be in the uniform designing driving seat. Add colour and designs elements (think pockets, zips or no zips, thumbholes) to the pictures of the Guides.

Show us how you want your uniform to look. Top tip – you can use the hoodie designs to help you.

Step 2: Have a think about all the items you would like in your uniform collection. You could include neckers, hats, belts, headbands, somewhere to display your badges – anything you like. Share your designs with us. You can draw or write on the worksheet, or create your own designs on a separate blank sheet of paper.

How many different ways can you think of using a necker? Jot down your ideas around the pictures.

Once you've added in all the colour and detail you want, give your designs back to your leader. The uniform designers will look at all the pictures to help us with the next round of designs.

Note to leader: please send your unit's pictures to uniformcodesign@girlguiding.org.uk
